Edgar Mitchell Claims Aliens HAVE Made Contact - (but it has been covered up for 60 years)

Edgar Mitchell was the Lunar Module Pilot for Apollo 14

Aliens have contacted humans several times but governments have hidden the truth for 60 years, the sixth man to walk on the moon has claimed. Apollo 14 astronaut Dr Edgar Mitchell, said he was aware of many UFO visits to Earth during his career with NASA but each one was covered up.

Dr Mitchell, 77, said during a radio interview that sources at the space agency who had had contact with aliens described the beings as 'little people who look strange to us.' He said supposedly real-life ET's were similar to the traditional image of a small frame, large eyes and head. Chillingly, he claimed our technology is 'not nearly as sophisticated' as theirs and "had they been hostile", he warned 'we would be been gone by now'.

Dr Mitchell, along with Apollo 14 commander Alan Shepard, holds the record for the longest ever moon walk, at nine hours and 17 minutes following their 1971 mission. 'I happen to have been privileged enough to be in on the fact that we've been visited on this planet and the UFO phenomena is real,' Dr Mitchell said.

'It's been well covered up by all our governments for the last 60 years or so, but slowly it's leaked out and some of us have been privileged to have been briefed on some of it.

"I've been in military and intelligence circles, who know that beneath the surface of what has been public knowledge, yes - we have been visited. Reading the papers recently, it's been happening quite a bit."

Dr Mitchell, who has a Bachelor of Science degree in aeronautical engineering and a Doctor of Science degree in Aeronautics and Astronautics claimed Roswell was real and similar alien visits continue to be investigated.

He told the astonished Kerrang! radio host Nick Margerrison: "This is really starting to open up. I think we're headed for real disclosure and some serious organisations are moving in that direction."

Mr Margerrison said: "I thought I'd stumbled on some sort of astronaut humour but he was absolutely serious that aliens are definitely out there and there's no debating it."

Officials from NASA, however, were quick to play the comments down. In a statement, a spokesman said: "NASA does not track UFOs. NASA is not involved in any sort of cover up about alien life on this planet or anywhere in the universe. 'Dr Mitchell is a great American, but we do not share his opinions on this issue.'

Washington, DC - Apollo 14 Astronaut Dr. Edgar Mitchell (PhD MIT) has once again stated clearly that high ranking civilian and military officials have over the years confirmed to him the UFO phenomenon in part, is the consequence of a non-human intelligence engaging the planet earth and the human race.

Further, he confirmed an extraterrestrial vehicle crashed in Roswell, New Mexico in 1947 placing in the hands of the U. S. Government potentially transformative technology.

These reassertions were made on a July 4, 2008 CNN Larry King Live program. As usual, the American media did not find this newsworthy and there was little follow-up coverage.

However, when he repeated and expanded his remarks on a London radio station on July 23, the result was an explosion of international coverage which will almost certainly spill back into the United States.

PRG executive director, Stephen Bassett, stated, "Dr. Mitchell is only the tip of the iceberg. There are scores of military and civilian agency witnesses ready to testify under oath before a congressional hearing and reveal the most important information in human history to a public that no longer believes anything the U. S. Government has to say on this matter."

"But to be quite blunt, the very fact a man of Dr. Mitchell's stature and accomplishments has repeatedly asserted the reality of an extraterrestrial presence is in and of itself sufficient basis for full hearings, and furthermore, every political and science reporter from every paper of record in this nation should be on the phone to this man today."

"When will American journalism make up its mind whose side it's on - the American people or the agencies of government propaganda."

NASA SPACECRAFT OPERATOR SAW ALIEN BEING

By Billy Booth (Internet)

Monday August 4, 2008

Clark McClelland spent 34 years as a spacecraft operator for NASA. He worked with the Mercury flights, Apollo missions, the International Space Station, and the Shuttle.

Evidently because of Astronaut Edgar Mitchell's UFO disclosure, McClelland has come forward with some amazing news: While at the Kennedy Space Center, he was monitoring a Space Shuttle mission. During this mission, he claims to have seen an alien being. On July 29, he released this statement on his web site:

"I, Clark C. McClelland, former ScO [Spacecraft Operator], Space Shuttle Fleet, personally observed an 8 to 9 foot tall ET on my 27 inch video monitors while on duty in the Kennedy Space Center, Launch Control Center (LCC). The ET was standing upright in the Space Shuttle Payload Bay having a discussion with TWO tethered US NASA Astronauts! I also observed on my monitors, the spacecraft of the ET as it was in a stabilized, safe orbit to the rear of the Space Shuttle main engine pods. I observed this incident for about one minute and seven seconds. Plenty of time to memorize all that I was observing. IT WAS AN ET and Alien Star Ship!"

He also stated that he was not the only NASA employee to see an alien being. At a later time, he was contacted by a friend of his, who told McClelland that he had seen an 8-9 foot tall alien who was actually inside the Space Shuttle!

McClelland referred to the sightings as Department of Defense "top secret" encounters. His admission spawns many questions as to the credibility of NASA, and their role in covering up information, like sterilizing photographs and video, and bleeping out certain audio communications. It also wets our appetites for more info on the alien beings. Where do they come from? What do they look like? What is their relationship with our Astronauts? Now, my question to you is, since we now have two recent confirmations that aliens exist, is this only the beginning of the barn door opening up? Are we going to see a flood of new disclosure from government employees? I feel very sure we will see some feedback on this story all around the Net very soon.

Readers Comment: "After listening to Mr. Mitchell's radio interview and how he described what 'ET' looked like, small, petite creatures, I had to wonder. Most of us have heard stories of several different types of alien beings, some being very small while others described as very tall. Mr. Mitchell made no mention of the taller ET's. Now the story from Mr. McClelland gives us the story of observing the other types of ETs we've heard of. Two credible people describing what so many citizens have described for years. As the pieces start to fall into place will our government(s) continue to deny their existence? Will those who encounter ufo and aliens continue to be scrutinized and brought down to the lowest life-form? I think now is the time for TRUTH."

Comment: "You can not fit a 7/8 foot creature in the space shuttle even if you stuffed it in with a help of a broom !"

Comment: "While this is technically accurate about the control / cockpit module. I'm pretty sure the payload Bay can accommodate many things bigger than 9ft !!"

Comment: "Having re-read the article, It's clear that he viewed the ET in the cargo Bay ."

"The ET was standing upright in the Space Shuttle Payload Bay having a discussion with TWO tethered US NASA Astronauts" .

'UFO mystery' in Stretford

14/ 8/2008 Manchester Evening News

(With thanks to John Shelton PRA)

CROWDS of people in Stretford watched in awe as a formation of mysterious orange lights hovered low over their houses last night. The intensely bright orbs, the colour of the setting sun, were spotted by dozens of residents between 10 and 11pm.

Motorists stopped their cars and neighbours on several streets congregated outside to watch the orbs pass slowly overhead. Some took mobile phone videos and photos of the strange lights, while others reported the sightings to Greater Manchester Police who sent two officers to investigate.

Matthew Darsley, 31, of Haworth Drive, said: "It was the strangest thing I've ever seen. They looked as if they were on fire, really bright orange orbs. We spotted eight or nine go over my house between 10 and 11pm. "They definitely weren't helicopters or planes or anything like that, and there was no smoke or sound. "We were thinking, 'this is it'.

"By the end there were about eight people out in the close watching them go by. My neighbour said she'd seen them as she was leaving the Trafford Centre.

"These things were massive. The first one I saw was just below the cloud line but the others were probably only about 300ft up."I took some pictures and video but I couldn't really seem to capture the size of them, just a bit in the middle like the filament of a light bulb."

A spokesperson for Manchester Airport said they had had no reports of unusual activity and the Civil Aviation Authority declined to comment on the sightings.

And a Ministry of Defence spokesman said it examines unidentified flying object reports solely to 'establish whether UK airspace may have been compromised by hostile or unauthorised military aircraft'.

Mum Beverley Clarke, a careers advisor in her fifties, watched the orbs with her husband Michael and son Joe from their back garden on Abbey Close.

"It was amazing," she said. "I'd just returned home and we caught sight of one through the trees. It went over one of the houses and was still for a while before slowly fading away. "Just as it was disappearing another one came again from the same direction. It wasn't something we imagined. "I don't really believe in flying saucers but they were huge bright orange spheres. "They were lower than a plane but higher than a helicopter. "I was saying, 'Oh my God', because it was so strange."

Steve Mera, of the Manchester Association of Paranormal Investigation and Training, said UFO sightings have increased by 40 per cent this year with 150 in the last three months. "Many of the reports have been local," he said. "We've had a spate in Northenden recently.

There are a lot of things we have to rule out, such as Chinese lanterns, meteor showers, exotic aircraft and meteorological phenomena.

"Still, about six per cent of sightings remain unexplained."

A spokesperson for GMP said: "We received two reports of objects in the skies above Stretford last night. It is believed the lights in the sky occurred naturally, possible as a result of a meteor shower."

Bigfoot Trackers Say They've Got a Body (or Have They?)

Wednesday, August 13, 2008

First Photo of the body (Head)

A body that may very well be the body of the creature commonly known as 'Bigfoot' has been found in the woods in northern Georgia.

Here are some of the vital statistics on the 'Bigfoot' body:

- *The creature is seven feet seven inches tall.
- *It weighs over five hundred pounds.
- *The creature looks like it is part human and part ape-like.
- *It is male.
- *It has reddish hair and blackish-grey eyes.
- *It has two arms and two legs, and five fingers on each hand and five toes on each foot.
- *The feet are flat and similar to human feet.
- *Its footprint is sixteen and three-quarters inches long and five and three-quarters inches wide at the heel.
- *>From the palm of the hand to the tip of the middle finger, its hands are eleven and three-quarters inches long and six and one-quarter inches wide.
- *The creatures walk upright. (Several of them were sighted on the same day that the body was found.)
- *The teeth are more human-like than ape-like.
- *DNA tests are currently being done and the current DNA and photo evidence will be presented at the press conference on Friday, August 15th.

The creature was found by Matthew Whitton and Rick Dyer (residents of Georgia) in the woods in northern Georgia. (The exact location is being kept secret to protect the creatures.) Extensive scientific studies will be done on the body by a team of scientists including a molecular biologist, an anthropologist, a paleontologist and other scientists over the next few months at an undisclosed location. The studies will be carefully documented and the findings will be released to the world, according to Biscardi. Biscardi is known as 'the real Bigfoot Hunter' because of his extensive investigations out in the field. He has been searching for Bigfoot since 1971 and over the past several years, he has been criss-crossing the United States and Canada tracking down the hottest leads on Bigfoot sightings. Videography on the studies will be done under the supervision of Scott Davis, an independent producer and owner of TV Biz Productions in Phoenix, Arizona.

Interested parties may contact Searching for Bigfoot, Inc., in writing, at their mailing address, 1134 Crane St., Suite 216, Menlo Park, California 94025.

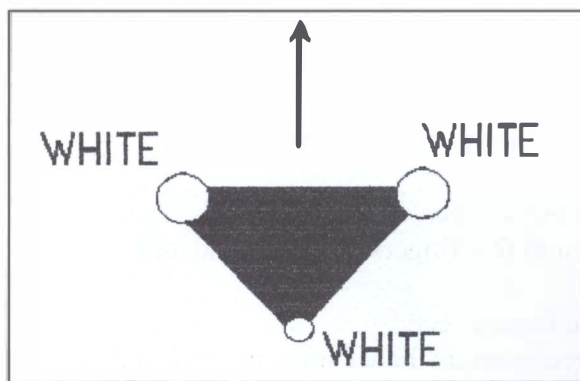

A Blast From The Past!

Woodstock, Connecticut - 1967 (With thanks to Mr Daniel Wilson, Ohio, USA.)

1967 - At 5:30 that same evening a dark, triangular shaped UFO flew blunt-end forward over North Woodstock, Connecticut and hovered over a farm. The object had a white light in each corner, and was quiet when hovering, but made a roaring sound when it moved off. Television interference was also reported during the sighting. At the same time in nearby Worcester, Massachusetts a UFO with three bright lights hovered over a house.

The refrigerator contents reportedly froze, and the color TV set in the house had the color fade out of the picture during the encounter. After five minutes the UFO flew south, stopped briefly, and then sped away.

Ninety minutes later two UFOs were seen circling low over a house in Mahopac, Putnam County, New York. Six human-appearing occupants were seen on board the craft, and one of them appeared to wave at the two witnesses, who drove their car following the UFO. Reportedly one of the witnesses received a telepathic message from the occupants. (Sources: The Hartford Courant, February 11, 1967; Worcester Gazette, February 20, 1967; Fred Dennis, on-site investigation, HUMCAT: Catalogue of Humanoid Reports, case A1556).

At 2200 hours, the witness was driving home alone on a dark road surrounded by woods and a large reservoir when he noticed several bright white lights off to the left just above the reservoir. The witness continued on slowly until he stopped his car by a clearing. He then watched the lights approached and realized that they were connected to some type of very dark structure.

As the object passed over his car he looked up to see a huge triangular shaped object. The object had only lights in the front and the underside appeared to have sections that receded inward, inside this area he could see white flashes of light.

Suddenly the next thing he knew was he was back in the car and driving away from the area.

Later after several restless nights the witness was hypnotized and was able to recall that as the object passed directly over the vehicle he was somehow levitated into the object. Inside he found himself lying on a table in a dark room.

He was surrounded by several short gray beings with large round dark eyes. One of the beings was moving some type of instrument around his head. Another being inserted an object up the witness nostril. Later he was escorted by one of the beings to a "control panel." He was then let go and has the feeling that the beings will one day return. A MAN WHO IS CONVINCED HE WAS KIDNAPPED BY EXTRATERRESTRIALS TELLS HIS STORY TO ANDREW WILLIAMS (METRO NEWSPAPER) 5th AUGUST 2008

Stefan Lobuczek, 49, is a full-time carer. For the past 15 years, his life has been blighted by memories of being abducted by aliens. Here he shares his tale of being taken by sinister ET's with mysterious motives.

I started having weird dreams about 15 years ago. I couldn't sleep at night and became afraid of the dark. One of the nightmares brought back a memory of a time when I was five.

I had a flashback of going into my parent's room and asking them to make the strange people in my room go away.

That was the key to unlocking all the experiences with UFO's I'd had but been brainwashed to forget. I realised that my memory of these childhood events had been altered. They eventually became clear to me.

I was taken from my bedroom in the middle of the night. A ray of light came through the window and I was beamed up to a UFO transport vessel. The room I was in narrowed towards the ceiling. I was led down a walkway into a holding area where some other children were being kept.

I remembered trying to keep away from the alien creatures which were floating about around me.

They eventually put me on a metallic examination table, then put a silver object into my arm. I felt a burning sensation, then I drifted into a trance.

Medical Inspection

The alien who inspected me looked like the Pink Panther but without a tail. To the right of me were several clear cases filled with human body parts. There was also a severed head in a cylindrical stand near the table.

I felt this tremendous pressure in my head and the alien telepathically spoke to me and said I'd be returned home soon, which I was but the same happened again two nights later.

I tried to put it out of my mind for many years but eventually wrote my experiences down on my own website. I was looking for other people with similar experiences.

Someone contacted me who said he'd seen a UFO hovering in the area around the time my abductions took place.

This suggested to me that it wasn't just my imagination.

Regular Visitors

Encounters with aliens have occurred throughout my life. The last time was two years ago. I believe the same bunch of aliens is involved each time.

I was driving home on a remote country lane late at night when I noticed a strange bright light in the sky. Then suddenly I couldn't remember having driven down the lane at all. I didn't know where I was.

The next thing I remember was seeing a rabbit in my headlights, which knocked me out of my trance. I stopped the car and realised I was lost. I felt an overwhelming urge to get away from there, but as I reversed into a field, I saw a grey alien standing by the gate. I've had dealing with the grey aliens before and they don't mean well, so I sped away.

A classic 'Grey' type Alien

I think the aliens are after our biological material. The severed limbs I saw in the craft will always stick in my mind. They're obviously doing something with material for their own purposes. I don't know why they send some people back but chop other people up. The head inside that cylinder didn't look like a modern human head. It looked like a Neanderthal head. I don't have a clue what they're doing. I don't believe that the aliens I've encountered come from a different region of space, but that they travel between dimensions. This gives them the ability to pass through solid matter in our universe and manipulate matter just using their thoughts.

Recurring Nightmares

I still have nightmares. If I could turn back time and stop these experiences happening to me, I would do it. I'd love it if someone would hypnotise me so I could forget what's happened to me. The memories just keep popping into my head out of the blue.

I now run my own group that investigates anomalous phenomena. Although I've had so much personal experience with UFO's, I'm actually more interested in electronic voice phenomena—when mysterious voices appear on recordings. I'm doing experiments with that at the moment.

Ed's. Comment:

I do not recollect hearing of such gruesome details referring to the collection of human body parts and certainly not of a human head of sorts being held in a container. The matter-of-fact acceptance of this situation by Stefan Lobuczek is surprising, one would have expected him to have been severely traumatised and in an almost permanent state of terror after such an experience.

Thanks to the past work of Budd Hopkins and Dr. David M. Jacobs, we are familiar with the alien programme of extracting human eggs from our female species and the collection of sperm from our males. We have been told how, much to her surprise, an expectant mother discovers that she has become pregnant without her knowledge (during an abduction). Only to realise a few weeks later that she is no longer pregnant (having no recollection that she has undergone a foetal extraction during yet another abduction).

This apparently results in the production of hybrid Alien/Human babies (sometimes being seen held in containers of some kind in the alien craft) and often leads to the 'introduction' of a hybrid human/alien baby to the abductee as 'their' child! The abductee 'mother' is often encouraged to 'bond' with the hybrid child

What we are describing is no more than treating people as guinea-pigs, lab-rats, as specimens, using women as hosts for incubating alien hybrids!

On page 10 of this issue we cover further details of Alien abduction scenarios (by Bill Foster).

BRILLIANT BLUE 'DOMINO' UFO SEEN OVER DERBY 22nd JULY 08

The time was about 10 past 7pm when Mrs 'AS' heard her 9 year-old son calling from their garden in Shelton Lock, Derby. He called for her to come outside quickly and see the strange object hovering in the sky over their garden.

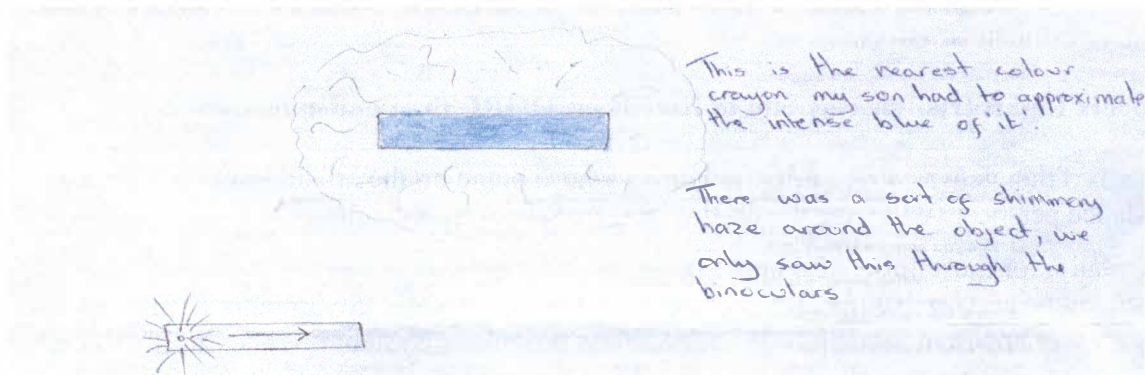

The object hovering overhead was described as a 'domino' shape and a bright iridescent blue in colour. Mrs 'AS' told her son to run indoors and fetch their binoculars. Once this was done Mrs 'AS' was able to study the mysterious object more closely and she was able to note that "there was a shimmering haze around the object".

There was a very bright blue/white light seen to be passing along the body of the object at regular intervals. The very bright blue/white light seemed to start from the left hand side of the 'domino' and move across quickly to the right, this was repeated for several minutes (see sketch).

During the whole time of the observation (about 15 minutes) the object stayed in a horizontal position.

The colour of the object was described as "similar to a metallic blue coloured car in full sunshine".

After remaining stationary for several minutes the object slowly moved away in a NE direction and passed behind a small wispy cloud and did not re-appear. Both witnesses (mother and her son) waited a further 10 minutes but the object never re-appeared. The altitude of the blue 'domino' was estimated to be about 10,000ft. The size, as seen from the ground was described as being like a 3amp fuse at arms length.

SOMETHING STRANGE IN THE SKY: A REPORT FROM THE CONWY UFO GROUP:NORTH WALES. U.K. 22nd August 2008 2100hrs.

I have been given consent to circulate the following picture in the hope of obtaining an opinion on what you think the object might be.

The object in question was sighted travelling from the Colwyn Bay direction towards Glan Conwy, then turning towards Deganwy. It disappeared from the eye witness's view and returned some ten minutes later following its original route seemingly. It was not quite dark but only the light could be seen. The series of pictures have been given to a local newspaper, but unusually, no response was forthcoming.

Maximum distance from eyewitness at nearest point is only about 1 mile. Actual altitude is not known.

GRAY CONVERSATIONS

By Bill Foster, Maine, U.S.A.

1. WHERE AND WHEN

"You talked to the aliens, right?" The question has been put to me, many times by the media and by acquaintances; as to potential conversations I had with gray aliens over my lifetime, during my thirteen remembered abductions. Let me first say that there is but a single, large, gray alien with whom I ever communicated. (I could 'hear' thoughts of other, smaller, worker grays but I did not communicate with them.)

This singular alien was called: "The Big Guy" by me because I knew no proper name and was never told any name to use. The Big Guy was a good twelve to fourteen inches taller than the smaller, four-foot worker grays. He had a much larger egg-shaped head and oval piercing blue-black eyes with no discernable pupil. On any given abduction occasion there were from two to thirteen worker grays in attendance and they all followed orders given out by this large gray leader.

The triangular ship into which I was routinely abducted was an extremely massive vehicle. During the two instances when I got a full view of the underside of the craft from the outside, it appeared to be a minimum diameter of three football fields and at maximum size it was perhaps a mile across. This is only my best 'guesstimate'. (Yes, I am aware of what a mile across entails and I assure you this is a conservative estimate!)

The Phoenix Lights triangle was said to have been MORE than one mile across!

The Phoenix Triangle was observed by a woman whose home on the hillside gave her an accurate landmark distance perspective to gauge the craft width, from wingtip to wingtip!

Incidentally, for those folks who kept asking me the question: "How can you be certain that the craft was not made by some world government or military complex?" The only answer apparent to me is: "What noiseless propulsion system does ANY COUNTRY presently have to keep a triangle that large, aloft?" Observed by any spectator, hovering or moving, the craft was certainly not built by any earthly aviation firm for commercial use.

2. THREE TYPES OF COMMUNICATIONS

A. ONE WAY:

The majority of communications within my abduction framework were one-way. That is, the thoughts were implanted into my brain by the aliens and no response was expected nor required. Many times instructions were given to me by the smaller, worker grays.

A good example of this one-way communication was during my childhood when I was abducted to play games. A few other human children and about five or six alien children, (the total number and mix varied with each youthful abduction), would sit in a semi-circle in a large room and we would attempt to keep two large balls (soccer ball sized) and six sticks (baton-shaped) in the air. With proper concentration the balls would zip around the room in a circular motion and the sticks would rotate, staying in place. It was quite a sight.

The balls and sticks had mirrored surfaces that reflected flashes of light back at us when in various angles of flight. It reminded me of the crystal ball hanging from the center of a dancing ballroom. We kept being instructed, telepathically, to concentrate on keeping the balls and sticks in the air and in rotation. We did this both as a group and individually, during each session.

B. QUESTIONS:

I asked many, many questions during each abduction. I was not quiet when it came to filling the void of silence. I spoke out loud during my first two abductions and then finally realized that the grays could read my thoughts even before I could ever begin to utter them vocally. From that point onward I simply thought the question through and awaited a response.

Most of my questions went unanswered. "Where are you taking me?" "What do you want?" "Who are you?" "Where am I?" "What is this place?" Most questions of this sort were ignored by the grays. The few times I did get an answer it seemed to me to be ambiguous. For example my question: "Who are you?" netted the response: "We are a species." That answer was rather self-evident, don't you think?

At times the response did not even match the question: "Where are we going?" brought the response: "Don't be afraid." Or "We won't hurt you." The bottom line became the fact that the only times that actual two-way conversation took place was when the grays' wanted to know from me, that was not either read by them in my mind or necessitated my thoughtful opinion.

C. CONVERSATIONS:

Once conversational rules were established during the third abduction I had learned that speaking aloud was redundant. All I had to do to respond was to formulate even a part of the answer inside my brain and they absorbed it from me.

During a prolonged abduction, subsequent to my forty-fourth birthday the conversation became, in my opinion, an interrogation! I had suffered a heart attack when I was forty-four, brought about by stress. The aliens have absolutely no comprehension of the word stress or what it entails, emotionally. Being non-human and having no visible emotions, explaining stress is as foreign a concept to them as they are, in nature, to us. I tried to explain the pressures of my occupation, the limited time-factor I had in moving my residence 1,300 miles away, the pending sale of my home, the promotion which caused the upheaval in the first place and finally trying to find and hire my replacement in my local area. All these activities had taken place within the span of a single month. When I could not decide how to get it all done in a timely manner my body made the choice for me, it gave me a heart attack! Then, I didn't have to make any decisions. It made sense to me – not to them.

If you think about trying to converse with a person who speaks a language that is totally foreign to you it would be helpful to have a magazine or picture book and be able to point at a picture to explain a thought or situation. (I have done this pointing at pictures with a Greek gentleman on an airliner.

We communicated our thoughts quite well without understanding a word of each other's native language.)

The Big Guy kept telling me that my body was healthy and should not have undergone an artery collapse because there was no tissue damage prior to this incident. He wanted to know how they, (the grays), could have prevented this situation from arising. Prevention? The only time a human being has no stress is if that human is dead. There is good stress and bad stress but there is always – stress.

This conversation, combined with a mechanical hardware examination, went on for almost forty-five minutes with the Big Guy asking all sorts of probing questions that seemingly netted him no comprehension as a result of my answers. I was answering as truthfully as I could but how do you describe a sunset to a blind person?

At other times our conversations revolved around my emotions. The grays were impressed with my "bold emotions". (Two words from the Big Guy, not mine.) My fear was the strongest emotion they had observed. In fact, he told me that my fear level was by far higher than any other human he had observed. (Was that a compliment?) The other emotions we discussed were anger, frustration, sadness, happiness and excitement. Here again, I chose my words carefully but it was apparent to me that I was trying to describe an elephant to a blind person by touch alone.

Although the grays showed no visible emotions there were times I thought I could detect what I perceived to be feelings. For example I thought I comprehended the appearance of amusement in the mind and on the face of the Big Guy. In retrospect, my evaluation of alien emotions may have been simply a case of anthropomorphism.

I had asked how a craft, as large as the one we were on, was able to remain hovering, just off the ground. This question seemed to amuse the Big Guy. The same was true when I asked how they were able to make the craft, in his words: "...any size they wanted it to be."

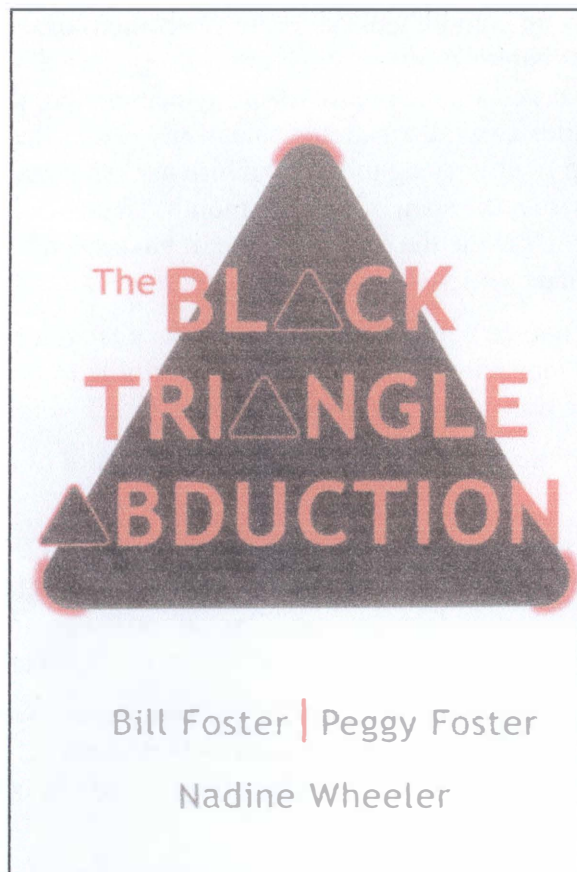

Here again, no answers yet I sensed an amusement that I would even ask such an odd or obvious question. Even my attempts to see other parts of the ship were met with the same quizzical response. No answer – just the odd stare.

Here I am, at sixty-seven years of age, having been abducted more than thirteen times over my life-time and yet none the wiser for having met with these gray aliens. If I have learned anything it is only to understand how much there is that I do not know.

My last remembered contact with the grays was two years ago. I am due for another visit.

Contact does indeed continue from the cradle to the grave. - end -

NASA/JPL NEWS RELEASE

Posted: August 15, 2008 TUCSON, Ariz. - NASA's Phoenix Mars Lander has taken the first-ever image of a single particle of Mars' ubiquitous dust, using its atomic force microscope.

The particle -- shown at higher magnification than anything ever seen from another world -- is a rounded particle about one micrometer, or one millionth of a meter, across.

It is a speck of the dust that cloaks Mars. Such dust particles color the Martian sky pink, feed storms that regularly envelop the planet of Mars and show the distinctive red soil.

The image on the upper right is from Phoenix's Optical Microscope after a sample informally called "Sorceress." A 3D representation of the same sample is on the right, as seen by the Atomic Force Microscope.

This is 100 times greater magnification than the view from the Optical Microscope, and the most highly magnified image ever seen from another world. Credit: NASA/JPL-Caltech/University of Arizona/University of Neuchatel

"This is the first picture of a clay-sized particle on Mars, and the size agrees with predictions from the colors seen in sunsets on the Red Planet," said Phoenix co-investigator Urs Staufer of the University of Neuchatel, Switzerland, who leads a Swiss consortium that made the microscope.

"Taking this image required the highest resolution microscope operated off Earth and a specially designed substrate to hold the Martian dust," said Tom Pike, Phoenix science team member from Imperial College London. "We always knew it was going to be technically very challenging to image particles this small."

It took a very long time, roughly a dozen years, to develop the device that is operating in a polar region on a planet now about 350 million kilometers or 220 million miles away.

The atomic force microscope maps the shape of particles in three dimensions by scanning them with a sharp tip at the end of a spring.

During the scan, invisibly fine particles are held by a series of pits etched into a substrate microfabricated from a silicon wafer. Pike's group at Imperial College produced these silicon microdiscs.

The atomic force microscope can detail the shapes of particles as small as about 100 nanometers, about one one-thousandth the width of a human hair.

That is about 100 times greater magnification than seen with Phoenix's optical microscope, which made its first images of Martian soil about two months ago.

Until now, Phoenix's optical microscope held the record for producing the most highly magnified images to come from another planet.

MYSTERIOUS LIGHTS CAUGHT BY SPEED CAMERA

I used to work for the safety camera partnership at Headquarters in Butterley.

In 2003 I noticed a safety camera photo on the office managers wall and asked him if I could look at it, he affirmed and said it defied any explanation as it was taken at 4am in the dark with no cars or other traffic present, also absent were any pedestrians or front doors to houses slamming (which can indeed set off a radar controlled GATSO system) I saw proof of that in another photo. The photo was taken on South Normanton Common, Derbyshire. The elongated flash of the camera was present, but also, were 3 circles of light on the road surface about 100 yards in front of the camera shining down onto the road from above i.e. the sky. The first question I asked was "Is it the "night sun" searchlight from the old police helicopter? He said the helicopter was not flying at the time, I then asked if it was a military helicopter, he said not and not with 3 separated circular beams. Whatever it was must have been low because the 3 circles of light were most prominent. and were in the shape of a triangle which was wider than the road at that point. I am very familiar with this location as I lived nearby in the village in the late 1970's and regularly changed the film in the speed camera at that location. (Source: John Shelton PRA)
